

Product Withdrawal W-2025-014

Food Safety · 2025-02 · Issue 1

1. Scope and affected product

This report records product withdrawal W-2025-014. The product withdrawn is the Classic Sourdough, product code SD-12.

Field	Entry
Withdrawal	W-2025-014
Product withdrawn	Classic Sourdough (SD-12)
Raised	2025-02-10
Raised by	Food Safety
Type	Withdrawal from sale

The withdrawal applies to loaves of the product baked within the dates given in section 3. No other product in the range is withdrawn under this report.

Loaves outside the affected batches are not withdrawn and may remain on sale.

2. Reason for withdrawal

Small pieces of blue plastic were found in two loaves during routine slicing checks. The pieces match the blade edge of a dough scraper used at the dividing stage.

The plastic is hard and could injure a customer if swallowed. The product is withdrawn as a precaution while the affected batches are identified.

No injury has been reported. No complaint had been received from a customer at the date of this report.

3. Affected batches

The affected batches are those divided on the scraper identified in section 2 between the last recorded scraper inspection and the date the damage was found.

Batch	Baked	Loaves
4502	2025-02-06	240
4503	2025-02-07	240
4505	2025-02-08	180
4506	2025-02-09	236

Batch numbers are printed on the closure tag of each loaf.

4. Containment actions

Loaves from the affected batches are removed from sale and held for return. Stock already sold is covered by a notice at the point of sale.

All dough scrapers of the same type are inspected and replaced where the blade edge is worn. Scraper inspection is added to the start-of-shift checks.

Returned stock is counted and recorded on the stock return log. Notification to the food safety authority is made separately.
