1. Effective date and scope

This instrument sets out the levels of authority conferred on roles within the group, and the limits applying to each level. It takes effect on 2024-01 and governs approvals made on and after that date.

Field	Entry
Instrument	DOA-2024-01
Effective	2024-01
Issued by	Corporate Governance
Scope	All functions, all product families

Authority is conferred on a role, not on an individual. Where a role is vacant, authority conferred on that role is exercised by the role to which it reports until the appointment is made. The holder of a role at any date is recorded in the appointments record maintained by Human Resources.

This instrument confers authority. It does not determine which level is required for a given decision; that follows from the procedure governing the decision.

2. Authority levels 1 and 2

Level 1 is conferred on functional management. It covers decisions taken wholly within a function, where no characteristic of a product is altered and no commitment is made outside the function.

Level	Conferred on	Covers
Level 1	Functional management	Decisions within a function
Level 2	Senior functional management	Decisions affecting qualified characteristics

Level 2 is conferred on senior functional management. It covers decisions affecting a qualified characteristic where no safety-critical interface is affected.

Authority at either level may be exercised only within the scope of the role on which it is conferred. A role may not exercise authority in respect of a product family outside its scope of responsibility.

3. Authority level 3

Level 3 is the highest level conferred by this instrument. It is held by the role set out below.

Level	Role holding the authority
Level 3	Director of Engineering Quality

Level 3 covers decisions affecting a safety-critical interface, and any decision expressly reserved to Level 3 by the procedure governing it.

Level 3 authority may not be delegated. Where the role is vacant, decisions requiring Level 3 are held pending appointment and are not exercised at a lower level.

The identity of the holder of the Director of Engineering Quality role at any date is recorded in the appointments record. This instrument names the role and does not name the holder.
